

Exercise 3.11 (J&J)

Recall the Johnson & Johnson data, `jj`. When we looked at this data previously, we fit quarterly dummies to capture the seasonality. Try this again, but using a seasonal ARIMA model. Which do you prefer? Why? (Remember, you may need to transform and either fit a linear time trend or take first differences to get stationarity.)